Titan Dreamers Resource Center Serves Undocumented Students

Henoc Preciado regularly meets with students in his office at Cal State Fullerton’s Titan Dreamers Resource Center. One question he’ll never ask? Their legal status.

“It’s very tough for undocumented students to find someone that they can speak to and disclose their immigration status,” he said. “You can only imagine the fear in these students.”

Preciado, a CSUF alumnus, graduated in 2011 with a bachelor’s degree in English and a minor in political science. He graduated from Syracuse University in 2013 with a master’s degree in higher/post secondary education.

He serves as coordinator of the Titan Dreamers Resource Center on the second floor of Pollak Library. Continue reading.

TAGS: Campus Updates, Community, Media, Titan Pride